1 A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION recognizing the importance of removing

3 WHEREAS, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American College of 4 Obstetricians and Gynecologists, the American Academy of Family Physicians, the 5 Academy of Breastfeeding Medicine, and the World Health Organization recommend that 6 babies be exclusively breastfed for the first six months of an infant's life and continue to 7 be breastfed until 12 months of age or longer as mutually desired; and

8 WHEREAS, only 31 percent of Kentucky infants are still breastfeeding at six 9 months of age, giving the Commonwealth the ranking 42 out of 50 for breastfeeding rates 10 among all states; and

11 WHEREAS, Kentucky's rates of breastfeeding initiation, duration, exclusivity and 12 worksite support fall well below both the national baseline and the Healthy People 2020 13 goal to increase the proportion of infants who are ever breastfed to 82 percent; and

14 WHEREAS, in January 2011, the United States Surgeon General announced a "Call 15 to Action to Support Breastfeeding" that identifies barriers to optimal breastfeeding in 16 health care practices, employment, communities, research, public health infrastructure, 17 and social networks, and also recommended methods in which families, communities, 18 employers, and health care professionals could help eliminate those barriers to improve 19 breastfeeding rates and increase support for breastfeeding; and

20 WHEREAS, children fed mainly breastmilk for the first six months of life are 22
21 percent less likely to be overweight by age fourteen and according to the 2014 Robert 22 Wood Johnson's Trust for America's Health Report, Kentucky ranks number one in the 23 nation for high school students that are obese; and

24 WHEREAS, research shows that human milk and breastfeeding provide advantages 25 with regard to general health, growth, and development while significantly decreasing the 26 risk of a large number of acute and chronic diseases such as Sudden Infant Death
27 Syndrome, asthma, allergies, diabetes, viral and bacterial infections, childhood obesity,

1 childhood leukemia, necrotizing enterocolitis, and infant mortality; and

2 WHEREAS, mothers who breastfeed have a decreased risk of breast, uterine and 3 ovarian cancer, postpartum depression, and osteoporosis later in life; and

4 WHEREAS, the nutrients exclusive to human milk are vital to the growth, 5 development, and maintenance of the human brain and cannot be manufactured; and

6 WHEREAS, the United States Department of Agriculture's Economic Research
7 Service estimates that at least 3.6 billion dollars in medical expenses could be saved each 8 year if the number of children breastfed for at least six months increased to fifty percent; 9 and

10 WHEREAS, breastfeeding has positive economic impacts on families by decreasing 11 the need to pay for medical care for a sick infant and eliminating the need to purchase 12 infant formula; and

13 WHEREAS, the health benefits to breastfed children and their mothers results in 14 lower health care costs for employers, less employee time off to care for sick children, 15 and higher productivity and employee loyalty; and

16 WHEREAS, employers, employees, and society benefit by supporting a mother's 17 decision to breastfeed and by helping to reduce the obstacles to initiating and continuing 18 breastfeeding;
